

BERLIN LAUDS LLOYD-GEORGE!

For Stand Against Polish Aggression But New Complications are Feared

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Berlin May, 14.—David Lloyd-George, prime minister of Britain, was the "hero of the day" for all Germany today.

His plain words in parliament yesterday in which he sided with the Germans as against the Poles in the Upper Silesia question were spread broadcast by the press today, accompanied by long laudatory editorial comments, and it is safe to say that the British premier's utterances were the most welcome news that has been imparted to the German people since the war. Their effect was doubly powerful because they found the young republic in the throes of deep despondency occasioned by Berlin's submission to the reparations ultimatum. That they came from the lips of the leading allied statesman who for years has been the target of our and venomous caricatures in the same papers which today sang songs of eulogy in his honor, also added to the dramatic effect of the news.

Reports and rumors of a "trap-approachment" between Germany and Britain which yesterday were only hinted at in whispers among the "in-liaited," were today a general topic of open discussion.

On the other hand, conservative observers viewed the prospect with news about the history-making parliamentary session with unconcealed misgivings. They feared that this encouragement from the strongest man in the Entente, his sympathetic words for Germany and his sharp censure of Poland for her aggressive conduct in Upper Silesia would promptly prove an inestimable boon to the reactionaries who still dream of re-establishing a "military empire" and who in the last few weeks have done much sabotage.

It was manifest to all who are familiar with the situation that heartening as is the attitude of Britain's political chieftains, it presents at the same time the danger of sails of the Kaiserists, and that the German government faces a period in which both a firm hand and the utmost tact and diplomacy will be necessary, failing which a new crisis might come that would readily spoil all that the republic has gained with such dramatic overnight suddenness.

KRSTOVIC WINS $2,685 VERDICT

Jury Holds Van Buren Company, N. Y. Brokers, Responsible For Debts of Kline, Failed Kingston Broker—Other Cases Affected.

A verdict for $2,685.38 for plaintiff was returned by the jury which heard the testimony in the case of Fripo Krstovic against C. H. Van Buren & Company. New York brokers. The verdict was returned late Friday afternoon after the jury had been out about two hours. In addition to the rendering of a verdict for plaintiff or defendant.

ury was required to answer "yes" or "no" to two questions. "During the time referred to in the complaint was Kline acting for the defendants as agent in conducting the brokerage business in Kingston?" The answer was "Yes." To the second question if Kline was not acting for the defendants as their agent in conducting this brokerage business but on his own account, did the defendants, by their own acts, knowingly hold out to the plaintiff that Kline was authorized to act on behalf of the defendants in conducting such business? The answer was "Yes." The court then asked whether permit Kline to so hold himself out, so that plaintiff in the exercise of a reasonable prudence could and did rely on such apparent authority in his transactions through said defendant officer? The answer to this question was also "Yes."

UNDERNEATH THE CITY HALL DOME

The Tale of the Poison Ivy Vine—What More Natural Than to Ask City Officials to Remove One—Sidelights on City Life.

"Is this the city hall?" asked a voice over the telephone wire this morning.

"It is," replied the man on the other end of the wire.

"Well hurry up and send a man out here at once to cut down that poison ivy vine in my backyard," commanded the voice over the wire.

"To do what?" gasped the one who had answered the phone call.

"You heard what I said," retorted the voice, "and if you don't do something pretty quick some one is going to pay for a doctor's bill for I have not got the time to go out and pull the blame vine up."

"Neither have I," said the one who answered the telephone. "And anyway you called the wrong office."

"Excuse me please," implored the voice on the other end, "but I suppose I got rather hasty, but to think of that vine out in the yard is enough to get on any one's nerves. Who did you say I should call up?"

"I did not say," replied the one who answered, "and to tell the truth you got me stumped. You say it is in your backyard, and not on the street?"

"That's what I said," retorted the voice growing impatient again.

"It would seem to be then," replied the one who answered reflectively, "that it was up to you to attend to the vine."

"I guess not," said the voice indignantly, "I think it is up to the board of health. Ain't this the board of health office?"

"Nope, they gave you the wrong number," said the man who answered in relieved tones as he hung up.

"What is more natural if you have a poison ivy vine in the yard and want it removed than to call up the board of health," murmured another who had overheard the conversation, and then he hastily dodged the telephone book that was hurled at his head.

"Well, what's your trouble?" was the question flung at the head of a man who shuffled into the city hall last night, and who had glanced around in a questioning sort of way.

"I'd like to know if I can be put up for the night," said the shuffler.

"I guess so," replied the one asked, "all you have to do is to step into police headquarters and register."

"Thanks, mister," replied the shuffler, "but that is the best piece of luck I have had in some time."

"How is that?" asked the other.

"Trouble seems to be my middle name," replied the shuffler, "for all it does is just follow me around. I no more than land one job than something comes along and first thing you know I get the bounce, and all for nothing."

"As for instance?" suggested the questioner.

"Well the last job I had was in a furniture store in another city," confided the shuffler, "and I worked there quite some time for me—about two weeks I should judge. And then one day a dame comes in and I steps forward to wait on her and she says to me, 'What has become of the lovely sideboards you had the last time I was here.'"

"I shaved them off, ma'am," I replied, "and just then her husband or gentleman friend, who I did not see come in with her, handed me one and as I was gazing at the stars I have a dim recollection of hearing him say, 'The next time you want to get fresh with a lady you had better look and see who is with her.'"

What do you want to know about nature subjects? Send any questions of general interest to the Nature Notes Department of this paper. Look for answers in this column.

Can You Answer These Questions?

1. How does a bird breathe under water when getting food?
2. Where, and in what phase of development, do crickets spend the winter?

3. Do animals keep the same mate year after year? Do birds?
Answers in Monday's Nature Notes.

Answers to Previous Questions.

1. I caught a land turtle last August. It has been sleeping through the cold months. When will it wake up?

The turtles and snakes come out as soon as there is enough warmth in the sun to invite them to bask in it. The exact date will vary with the latitude and with the weather. By April, all the hibernating creatures are usually out—the coon, the chipmunk, the bear, turtles, snakes and frogs.

2. What elm has bunches of burrs or cones on the ends of the branches? Without a specimen of the fruit in question, an answer can be only guess work. The water elm has spiny burr or capsule to hold its seeds, but this tree is not native to Iowa, whence comes the question. An introduced specimen is possible. The red or slippery elm, cork or rock elm, and white elm are distributed in Iowa, but their fruit is in clusters, in flatish-shaped seed cases.

3. Do birds have memory? Birds (and animals) probably do not have memory in the sense that humans do—a distinct mental image or reproduction of places, things and happenings. But they evidently have a strong power of association, so that encountering a particular place or object already experienced awakens feelings and causes reactions similar to those previously felt. Their migrating habits are probably a matter of instinctive prompting, not memory, and they are guided by a sense of faculty entirely unlike anything man now possesses. I am convinced that birds have a sense of home, and that they return year after year to the same localities to nest.

NOVELTY DANCE.

For the Baseball Team of St. Peter's Lyceum.

On Monday evening, May 16, the baseball team of St. Peter's Lyceum will hold a novelty reception and dance at the school hall. It is a means devised to defray the expenses of outfitting the team which will represent the organization on the diamond. The party will run for the convenience of South Rondout people after the dance. A great crowd is expected from Council Bluffs as they are well represented on the roster of baseball players.

Game Sunday at High Falls.

At High Falls on Sunday afternoon the Higginville Summers, a newly organized baseball team of semi-professional local players will play Stone Ridge a team that has a record so far this season of three games won and no game lost. The game will begin at 3.30 o'clock. A delegation of visitors from this city will accompany the Higginville Summers to High Falls in Schip's automobile which will leave the Kingston Hotel Crown street, at three o'clock.

Memorial Dance.

On Thursday evening, May 13, a memorial dance will be given at the Lyceum Hall, Main street, by young men known as the Jolly Eight. The music to be by Strauss' eight piece orchestra.

THEN HAVE 803 CHURCH MEMBERS

Class of 12 To Be Confirmed At Church of the Redeemer Sunday—Luther Leagues Doubles and Sunday School Has Same Goal—Last But Not Far From Least.

As a special feature of the Whit Sunday services in the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, corner Wurts and Rogers streets, tomorrow, a class of twelve, six young men and six young women will be confirmed and receive their first Communion. Under the direction of the new pastor the Rev. William J. Nelson, the class has been prepared thus to assume for themselves, the responsibilities of their relationship to the church made for them in their baptismal covenant, and to receive confirmation of the same in the ancient church rite of the laying on of hands and prayer.

The service will be particularly appropriate to the anniversary of the establishment of the church in the apostolic era, when with the power of the newly given Divine spirit she added on that one day three thousand to her followers.

The members of the class are: Marion Thomas, Marie Hotelling, Ella Jaletski, Florence Miers, Ada Jaletski, Rose Ramming, Carl Mesinger, Chester Fox, Edgar Peterson, Frank Herd, John Romulus and John Schussier.

The service will begin at 10 o'clock with the processional of the choir and class from the rear of the church. Special decorations are being provided for by the Luther League. After the confirmation the Lord's Supper will be administered to the entire congregation.

This class will bring the total of the communicant membership of the Church of the Redeemer to six hundred and thirty-eight. The Luther League has recently doubled its membership and the Sunday school personnel has the same aim in view. In the report that will be submitted to the coming convention of the New York and New England Synod to be held in Utica week after next, the congregation shows a total membership of 803 and financial item of $9,153.03 of which over $1,200 was for benevolence. As the youngest Kingston member of the old institution in the world, the Church of the Redeemer has every reason to be congratulated on her progress and prospect.

There are two wide piazzas, 100 feet in length in front of the house, shaded by maple trees. Connected with the hotel is a garage and a large vegetable garden, also an ice house. Mr. and Mrs. Kohl who are well known in this city conducted with success for a number of years the Mountain View Hotel a short distance from the city line on the Saugerties road, and later the City Hotel at 9-13 Main street. # U. S. WEATHER IS NOT HOME BREW icy Blasts and Torrid Zephyrs Are "Imported" From Other Countries as General Rule

NOT SUBJECT TO REGULATION

There is No Way of Suppressing High and Low Disturbances and Atmospheric Pressure is Boss of its Own Whims.

Washington—People who complain about the weather, who kick because it is too hot, too cold or too windy, as the case might be, are reminded by the National Geographic society that the weather is not home-brewed.

Most of it comes sweeping in from other countries, blowing up beyond the three-mile limit without passport or tariff restrictions. Some of it might bear the brand, "Made in the U. S. A.", but as a general thing it is imported. For the most part the American supply of rain, snows, blizzards, cold waves and hot waves, tornadoes and tempests, come tumbling in from the northwest and the west. A smaller percentage, the society reports, come from the north and southwest, but now and then the wind in the Gulf of Mexico and the South Atlantic licks up its heels and there is trouble.

But, say the learned men of the society, it is worth noting that none of the weather enters the country through the stretch of the Atlantic coast north of Cape Hatteras, the section into which pours the vast bulk of material imports, and in which occurs a majority of the main disasters on American shores.

Alaska Storm Center.

There is some consolation to enthusiasts for the "Made in America" movement, the society says, in the fact that the great majority of disturbances that enter the states originate in Alaska or in the great warm cauldron of the North Pacific, between the Aleutian islands and Hawaii, which is almost a United States sea.

So the weather is not subject to regulation. There is no way of suppressing high and low disturbances. Atmospheric pressure is boss of its own whims. The groundhog is not nearly so accurate a prophet as a little vane at the edge of the sea.

"The areas of disturbance—lows and highs—made familiar to large numbers of people by the rough circles and ellipses that indicate them on the daily weather maps of the weather bureau," says the society bulletin, "cross the continent usually in three or four days. Usually rain or snow falls in the 'low' areas or slightly in advance of them. The rains that occur in the arid parts of the West, however, usually follow in the passage of the 'lows'."

More "Lows" Than "Highs."

The "highs" that traverse the United States have fewer places of origin than the "lows"—Alberta, North and South Pacific, Rocky mountains and Hudson bay. They usually bring cooler weather. The bitterest cold waves known in the region from the Great Lakes eastward follow "highs" that drift down from the Hudson bay, but judging by the recent winter performance there was not much drifting.

The bulletin does not explain why the last winter felt so far below the usual average, or whether this may be taken to mean that the approaching summer will break all records for heat considering its early start.

SHE EGGS JUDGE ON BENCH

California Woman Also Calls Him Dog Catcher; Will Serve 150 Days.

San Diego, Cal.—County Justice J. Edward Keating was bombarded with eggs in his court here by Mrs. Bertha Polak of East San Diego, who was arraigned on a charge of having violated her parole following conviction for disturbing the peace. Judge Keating asked if she had anything to say.

"Yes, I have," she replied. "You think you're a judge, don't you? Well, you're not; you're a dog-catcher."

Before the court attendants could reach her, she threw three eggs at the judge, all taking effect.

The judge ordered that she serve the 150 days' jail sentence originally imposed on her.

CLAIM CLAM MIGRATORY FISH

Fishermen Ask Supreme Court of United States to Pass on Age-Old Question.

Washington.—The age-old question of whether a clam is a migratory fish came to the Supreme court for decision.

Several fishermen operating on Little Neck, Mass., appeared for a review of decisions holding that removal of the clam from a public clamming ground through private property was "trespassing" despite the fact that the clam is a migratory fish in the public.

The lower court held that "the clam was removed in a shellfish capable of transportation sufficient to bring it within the category of migratory fish."

HIT BY WISE FRAUDS

Travelers in Orient Are Victims of Swindlers.

Favorite Means of Livelihood Among Minor Officials—Also Practice Money and Ticket Frauds.

Constantinople.—Swindling travelers in connection with passport visas has become one of the favorite means of livelihood of minor officials in the Orient and Balkan countries.

Mrs. J. B. K. Polly, wife of an American business man living in London, recently was a victim of this fraud while travelling on the Orient express, running from here to Paris. When the train was passing from Bulgaria into Serbia an official in uniform representing himself as a Serb inspector, demanded to see her passport, informed her that the visa obtained at the Serb legation in Constantinople was invalid and ordered her to leave the train. After protestations, he consented to accept $25 to let her continue her journey. She had already paid $30 for visas of her passport.

Before leaving Constantinople many travelers are obliged to give large sums to get visas which later may be declared invalid in this manner.

Slaves refugees from Russia are not wanted in other countries, where they may become public charges, few passports are granted them officially, but they are furnished with proper papers for sums ranging from $20 to $100. As these refugees are poor, they are often obliged to spend all but their traveling expenses for visas.

Another form of swindle results from the general European laws against taking large sums of silver, gold or paper money of a given country into another.

To prevent such traffic governments place officials at frontiers, who demand of each traveler the sum of foreign cash on his person. If he declares anything above the equivalent of $70, or some such modest sum, it is taken and a receipt given which he may cash in money of the country on leaving it. Sometimes the inspector merely pockets the money, or will take a bribe to let the traveler proceed with all his cash.

Americans of experience have adopted the plan of carrying only checks or drafts and thus avoid this annoyance.

The oldest form of travel swindle takes the form of trains stopping due to lack of coal. Then the train crew plays cards until the passengers take up a collection with which to buy coal. This swindle has been improved upon. An official takes up tickets and then a second official, who denounces the first one as a fraud, makes the passengers pay a second time.

AMERICANS HELD IN RUSSIA

Anna Kaiser Escapes as British Subject and Tells of the Rancor of Reds.

Constantinople.—Russian Bolsheviks are bitter toward Americans, and are not permitting them to leave Russia, said Anna Kaiser of Philadelphia upon arriving here.

She came to this city on board the steamer Rechid Pasha, which landed at Odessa a number of officers and soldiers who had formerly served in south Russia under General Wrangel, anti-Bolshevik leader. She declared, French, Italian and British citizens were allowed to depart from Odessa.

"I left as a British subject," she said, "the few Americans who were in Odessa having been refused permission to leave. A number of General Wrangel's officers who were taken to Odessa were shot, and the remainder were taken before the central soviet and then sent to the army of farm workers. Odessa is still in the hands of the Bolsheviks, and there is much hunger there. Many executions are taking place, the city is lifeless and there is still little work or food."

A Real Constable on the Job.

Louis, Ky.—Mose Maynard, constable, delivered J. D. Brownrigg to the Wayne jail, but only after an exciting experience. Brownrigg jumped from a train near Coleman and plunked into a river. Maynard followed. The constable had the fastest stroke and caught his man as he scrambled out on the opposite shore. Then together they walked eight miles in their wet clothes to Wayne.

Solons Send Pages to Witness Circus

Sacramento, Cal.—"Mister Speaker," "This is circus day," said Assemblyman Frank I. Coombs, when the assembly convened. "I think that if this assembly could take a day off yesterday to go to the hall game it might be the paper game, the afternoon to go to the circus. We were all boys once."

Then Mr. Coombs, whose suggestion was approved unanimously, asked the bill by taking up a collection to pay the pages' admission, buy their peanuts and cigarettes make the day bright, and the small boys clapping high and smiling widely, left for the fair of the blood-sweating benevolence.

THE OFFICE CAT

By Junius

Possession.

My poor old dog has got the fleas, he's got the jerks and palsied knees, he's got the mange and got the sneeze, but still he's mine. He's stiff as any baseball bat, he takes no interest in a cat, he doesn't know where he is at the greater time. But still I spread his honor round, I praise his virtues through the town, I save him from the cruel pound, because he's mine. I like about my pointer rare, I like about his glossy hair, I name his honor everywhere, because he's mine. My dog is shabby and run down, he's never licked a dog in town, I am ashamed to trot him round, and yet he's mine. He hasn't got the pep to roam abroad in search of juicy bone, he loafed away his time at home because he's mine. And every day he gets three feeds, I cater to his earthly needs, it is a carefree life he leads, because he's mine. I let him loaf around the yard, a yard that he could never guard, while I go out and labor hard for me and mine. It's funny what us chaps will do because possession tells us to, I guess I'd board a walrus too if it were mine. I house a cang of hungry rat, a bunch of lous, useless cats, and just about as useless brats, because they're mine.

Mercy.

We have often felt that way about it too. But what we stated to tell you was that you can see this sign on a store in a Brazil land.

PHONOGRAPHS,
THE DAM MUSIC COMPANY

Castor oil will never be a popular medicine until it is necessary to get a doctor's prescription and feel wicked while taking it.

"Dis heah cost o' livin'!" observed Maudy Morgan, "is gettin' somethin' awful!" Would you believe me a single ham done cost mah husband six months in jail!

The Precious Youngster.

When a foolish mother gets and fawns Around a baby, 'til it fawns. Then picks it up and patters thus: "A mommy's baby, dearest cuss— Does itse, patee, oddhins sink. At it would like to have a drink. It does me good in every way. To hear the pampereed youngster say: As if it was much bored, 'I think Dear mother, 'I should like a drink."

John T. Adams of Iowa, who, according to rumors in official Washington, will in all probability be elected to succeed Postmaster General Hays as chairman of the Republican national committee. Mr. Adams was a candidate for the post in 1918, but was defeated by Charles Hays. Mr. Hays will return on June 16 and the national committee, which meets in Washington that day, will immediately elect his successor.

Lailed for Non-Support.

Merrill George, aged 20 years, was brought to the Essex county jail on Friday to serve three months in default of raising a bond in $750 to support his wife and child in the town of Essex. He was brought in by Constable Charles A. Collins who arrested him on a warrant of abandonment of wife and child in April 16. He was arraigned before Harold A. Jent justice of the peace and after a hearing, ordered to give a bond for support. Not giving same he was committed to jail as before stated.

Temperamental Bird.

The owner is a bird among birds, self-willed and formidable. Natural and a writer in the New York Sun, call on the bird was the most amusing of the fowls of the farm. He is also described as a grumpy, dignified and snooty. The bird of the farm is a temperamental woman, strong about sharp at the edges and curved to stand the tip. It is his one weapon of offense but it serves the purpose of two or three. Like the flick of the old-time pulchritude, it is seen while at a dinner or as a cutting knife, and it can also be used as a pair of pliers. With one blow it can kill a man and the reason can easily be traced through the quiver of a hedgehog. It is true that the reason will never attack a man, probably it is not so much from lack of courage as from the bird's own high-minded perception of what is surplus.

Flanders War Orphans Make Poppies for American-Franco Children's League

Some of the children who made the poppies with which the American and French hero dead will be honored on Memorial Day.

On a day early this spring the ruins of an old chateau in Flanders, razed with the hand of ungodly war, the children, some frail and fatherless, some orphaned, some whose fathers were killed and whose mothers were left alone, came from all over the world to the chateau and gathered at a broken staircase leading to a lost paradise. There came a girl, who held up a hand that showed them into silence and said:

Love Sickens

Emmett gave an account of the experience of making a hidden love. These complicated unquenching love affairs of the young and complicated cases are. When a patient presented these symptoms, especially if he or she were a youth the medical man should suspect a secret love passion. The source of the love might be found by the method which took place on the entrance into the room of the object of the passion. This consisted of a change of count, trembling, palpitating and sweating. The astute physician by placing his hand over the subject's heart could feel the agitation when the object of love entered the room. In some cases the pulse was deemed a sufficient guide for the medical man, the other symptoms being then considered as merely secondary to the disturbance of the heart.

Shipping immigrant children to the United States by express is a novel and interesting story. Little Venanzo Faxe, 9, and his brother, Alvin, 6, arrived at Ellis Island, New York from Italy, landed in the Army and Navy Hospital, Camp Upton, Long Island, where they were taken care of. The children had been separated from their father, who had been captured in advance of the advance of the Allies in the Balkans. The boys, with a small suitcase and a few dollars, were sent to the hospital. The boys, with a small suitcase and a few dollars, were sent to the hospital. ## KINGSTON POST AND STATE BONUS

The New York State Bonus Commission is getting things in shape for an early distribution of the state bonus to ex-soldiers who served in the world war. The distribution of the bonus will be done largely through the local posts of the American Legion where application blanks will be available and where assistance will be given in making application. One of the purposes of the American Legion is the assistance of ex-service men and this service is not limited to members of the legion.

The following letter of instruction has been sent to Adjutant Eugene B. Carey of Kingston Post by the state commander:

There will shortly be distributed from the office of the adjutant general, Albany, instruction sheets and application blanks for the state bonus. Those applications will be issued in generous quantities to every post in this state.

Each post should upon receipt of this bulletin begin immediate preparations to aid in the distribution of this bonus. A post bonus commission should be appointed, this committee should establish headquarters, preferably at post headquarters, and should announce through newspapers and other avenues of publicity that it is prepared to handle applications, without charge. Typewriters should be furnished for the preparation of applications, which must be in typewriting. The services of a notary public should be secured for certifying to the papers.

In handling applications, the post should under no circumstances dismember the legion. It is our duty to aid all ex-service men. However, it is felt that by aiding those who are not members of the legion, an opportunity will be given to show them the merits of our organization and sign them up.

AT THE THEATRES.

"The Kid" At Keeney's—"The Cabinet of Dr. Caligari" At Opera House.

The biggest comedy the world has ever known, a comedy with a soul and devoid of cheap slapstick, a comedy in which there is a tear as well as a laugh and a chuckle—this is the broad claim made for Charlie Chaplin's "The Kid" showing at Keeney's for the last times tonight. "The Kid" also introduces a new screen star, Jackie Coogan, who plays the part of "The Kid." Monday Tom Mix in a new speed story, "The Road Demon," in which this ambitious star travels both ways, by saddle and auto.

"The Cabinet of Dr. Caligari" has started the local fans talking. It is showing at the Opera House for the last times tonight. It is an interesting piece of screen play, a novelty that combines mentality, humor, and a certain cleverness of execution and must be credited with presenting a new departure from the hackneyed type of picture with which movie lovers are familiar. "Torchy Comes Through," starring Johnny Hines, will be at this theatre Monday. Coming the last half of next week is Billy Allen's musical comedy revue starring Hal Kiler. Also a photoplay that has created a sensation, "Sikrit."

"The Martyrs of the Alamo," a Griffith production, is the attraction at the Auditorium tonight and is said to be a faithful presentation of this historic masterpiece of the days when the Americans and Mexicans fought terrific battles for the independence of the state of Texas. "Fantomas," the mystery man, is also programmed. Monday Carmel Myers in "The Dangerous Moment."

Stokes' Swat Did the Business.

The batteries for the losers were: Bill Sahloff, pitcher; Matie, catcher. Stokes and Sahloff were in fine condition. Any teams desiring to play the Regulars, see A. Schwaab, 17 Union street, or J. NEW BRANCHES IN SCOUTING.
Thirteen Rome (N. Y.) scouts recently organized themselves into an auxiliary club and are making bows and arrows for themselves. One of the most striking scout displays in connection with the sportsman show in New York last winter was a marching band with old English costumes. Archery is a fascinating recreation and is incidentally splendid training in accuracy, observation and co-ordination of mind, eye and muscle.

SCOUTS SOW GOOD HABITS
Scouts everywhere are interested in gardening and forestry. In a recent issue of Boys' Life, the chief scout executive reminds the boys of the movement that there is another kind of planting going on all the time, whether they are conscious of the process or not. Mr. West says: "Boy time is essentially planting time. The habits you are forming now are the ones you will reap the harvest of when you get to manhood. And that is where scouting comes in as a sort of expert gardener to show you what to plant, and how and why to plant it."

"One of the accusations that is sometimes made, with some justice, against the American people, as a whole, is our lack of thoroughness, our tendency to be 'jacks of many trades,' expert at none. This charge should never be allowed to fit or hit a scout. Thoroughness and the doing of a given task, 'hon' honor, to the best of our ability should be, and I am glad to say usually is, characteristic of boys who are scouts. Even if it is a small thing in itself, like learning to tie a certain kind of knot, keep at it until you have the trick completely mastered, and can tie the knot any time, any place, just right, as speedily and deftly as possible."

"Take the matter of first aid, when you are learning to make bandages and tourniquets, studying and practicing what to do in case of a certain accident or how to prevent that accident from happening, put your whole mind and skill into it. Learn to do it, not 'any old way,' but just right, so that if the time comes when you are called upon, in the flash of an instant to put that knowledge to practical use, you will not be found wanting."

"Be prepared. Sow habits of energy, patience, perseverance. Train your mind and body to work together in splendid alliance. Live clean lives, think clean thoughts, read great books, follow true heroes, like Abraham Lincoln and Theodore Roosevelt. Plant for tomorrow and manhood."

MESSAGE FROM SPANISH CHIEF.

In connection with the new international scout magazine representing all the scouts of the world, the chief scout of Spain makes this statement: "To create an international journal which shall be the expression of the common ideals that flourish beneath the boy scouts' flag throughout the world; and with that journal to carry to the farthest corners of the earth the common desire for physical and moral redemption for which men of goodwill in all climes are striving, will be to endow with a new strength, with the winged and powerful strength of written thought, this gigantic crusade of universal brotherhood which already binds with strong links the youth of all countries, without distinction of race or frontier."

"The boy scouts of Spain, who are working for their country and for their well-being, follow the inspiration of Baden-Powell's immortal doctrine, cannot forget that they are part of that enterprise, or that in all nations they have brothers with the same desires and ideals; and for this reason they rally with enthusiasm to the work of their common publication, which will find in its fervent propaganda if it serves, as we hope, to strengthen and encourage the noble scout aims."
